

THE WORLD OF SOCIETY.

Despite the Lenten Season, Capital City Folks Engage in Various Festivities.

The Pleasant Dance Given by Young Ladies at a West Side House.

The Nicholson-Knight Nuptials—Musical at Mrs. J. T. Murphy's—Minor Mention—Out of Town Society.

[Editors will confer a favor on THE INDEPENDENT by sending notices of society events, personal mentions, etc., suited to this column, addressed Society Editor, this office.]

"Hospitality is a good deal a matter of latitude," says the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table." "The shade of a palm tree serves as an African for a hut; his dwelling is all doors and no walls; everybody can come in. To make a morning call on an Esquimaux acquaintance, one must creep through a long tunnel; his house is all walls and no door. A good deal which in colder regions is ascribed to mean dispositions belongs really to mean temperature."

Though Helena occasionally varies the monotony of sunshine and mild air by what Mr. Holmes terms "mean temperature," it fortunately does not continue long enough to affect the disposition of her people for hospitality. Those "who know how to enjoy themselves" have the past week neither abjured society for the purpose of doing rigid penance nor on account of the way down "mean temperature."

Let age shiver; youth laughs at frozen mercury, which only quickens its pulses. So thought the joyous young ladies, who received last Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Lehman, "Thirty-two below zero" did not chill their spirits nor those of their many friends and admirers, but only served to heighten the warmth, welcome, and good cheer of the brilliantly lighted parlors beautified in honor of their expected guests. All the spacious apartments of this hospitable home were tastefully decorated with festoons of smilax, tied with ribbons and a profusion of flowers, making a most appropriate background for the bright looks of the pretty young visitors and their happy escorts.

The young entertainers, animated by the thought of making the evening a pleasant one for everyone present, looked both charming and charming, as it were, to model hostesses. Gay chatter, mirth and merriment reigned till music signalled to "the merry dance," which was continued with zest until the hour for some welcome refreshments.

The keen enjoyment of all present, proves that in affairs of society as well as state "union gives strength" and the guests so happily entertained, hope that this may not be the last time that society young ladies unite their forces for a skirmish in the field of pleasure.

We give the names of the ladies present with a brief outline of some of the costumes. The young ladies receiving were chaperoned by their mothers. There were fourteen names on the cards of invitation, but Miss Phillips could, unfortunately, not be present.

Miss Lehman was dressed in black satin and black net, trimmed with ribbons; decollete, diamond and a bouquet of Marchal No. 1 roses were her ornaments.

Miss Bach, black velvet with lemon yellow trimmings and sash; decollete.

Miss Hill, black net and surah trimmed with ribbons of yellow ribbon; decollete.

Miss Hedges, white striped silk; duchesse lace, diamonds.

Miss Kate Wilson, black lace combined with pink crepe; decollete; natural flowers.

Mary Wilson, Vieux rose, China silk, Persian trimmings and sleeves of net.

Miss Cullen, white silk with white fisher's net and ribbons; decollete; natural flowers.

Miss Marks, sea shell, pink surah, trimmed with lace and ribbons; decollete. She carried white roses.

Miss Paynter, pale green nun's veiling; decollete. A bouquet of pink and white roses and a handsome fan were carried.

Miss Sharpe, white henriette and surah; elbow sleeves and decollete. Long suede gloves.

Miss King, black lace over red satin, made decollete. Long suede gloves.

Miss Crounse, light blue china silk with natural flowers.

Miss Flowerlee, black lace over surah, trimmed with moire ribbons. Long black gloves, black ostrich fan and diamonds.

Miss Atkinson, old gold figured silk and fisher's net. Decollete and sleeves of net.

Among the guests were the following:

Miss Witherbee, white China silk trimmed in ribbons and white silk fringe. Her ornaments, an ostrich fan and a bouquet of roses.

Miss Kate Roberts, a chocolate brown and white China silk, trimmed in white velvet.

Miss Franklin, light blue moire silk with lace net.

Miss Fuller, light blue China silk made decollete sleeveless; natural roses.

Miss McConnell, white albatross and black velvet.

Miss Goldberg, striped white silk and lace.

Miss Feldberg, mahogany Henrietta cloth and black velvet.

Miss Carrie Lehman, black lace over silk, V-shaped neck, black suede gloves.

Miss Allen, of Chicago, white Henrietta cloth and white satin, made in Jennie Miller style. It was decollete and sleeveless, trimmed in lace and ribbons.

Miss Lizzie Briscoe, white silk and lace; diamonds.

Miss Ramsey, white albatross and surah.

Miss Pant, black silk, V-shaped neck; sleeveless; natural flowers.

Miss Sims, black silk, made decollete. She carried a bouquet of white and red carnations.

Mrs. Lehman was dressed in black silk with jet trimmings; diamonds.

Mrs. Osterhaut, black thread lace over ivory satin, made demi-trained and decollete, long suede tan gloves, gold beads and a bouquet of white roses, completed the beautiful costume.

Mrs. David Marks, a trained dress of white striped faille; duchesse lace and diamonds.

The gentlemen participating were: Messrs. Gibbs, Balliet, J. Sanders, H. B. Kane, Witherbee, Ramsey, Crounse, Allen, Wheeler, Jordan of Chicago, F. and T. Sharpe, Harvey English, Hallett, Atkinson, Carpenter, Lee Word, W. Word, Tilly, Paynter, D. Jordan, Jacobson, Kleinschmidt, Sterling, Knight, Ben and Walter King, Waples, Brandegee, J. T. Jones, Bailey, Geo. Child, R. Lake, W. Kelley, Marks, Dr. J. C. Thompson, Dr. Norris and Dr. Barbour.

The music of marriage bells strikes a vibrating chord in every heart, even the churl, supposed to be devoid of tender sentiment, and the cynic, who thinks he has outgrown the romantic and the beautiful, are secretly touched by the impulse of joy which its notes imply. This is especially true where the bride is the daughter of an old and highly esteemed citizen and the centre of a large circle of admiring friends. Such was the marriage celebrated last Tuesday at the home of Mr. E. W. Knight, the occasion being the wedding of his daughter, Stella, to Mr. Herbert Nicholson. The old home where the young lady had spent so many happy hours, was decked with flowers and garlands in honor of the day, and formed a bright and beautiful background for the fair young bride.

The bay window was draped in white, covered with the delicate leaves of the fern, with sprays of tulips, carnations and callilies and wreaths of smilax made it a bower of fragrance and beauty. Depending from the center was a bridal bell of hyacinths and carnations. At the hour of 12 the groom entered the sitting room followed by Mr. E. F. Hooper and Miss Blaine, who served as best man and bridesmaid. They were followed in turn by the bride, leaning upon the arm of her father, who gave the bride away. Miss Knott and Mr. Nicholson took their places in the window under the bell, while the Rev. Mr. Moore performed an impressive ceremony. The bride was attired in a trained dress of ivory white tulle, trimmed with point lace. It was V-shaped in front, the sleeves reaching the elbow. A long white veil, white gloves and slippers completed the costume. She carried a rare and exquisite bouquet of orchids sent from New York City. Miss Blaine's dress was ivory white, brocade satin, draped in crepe. It was made V-shaped back and front, with high puffed elbow sleeves. Her bouquet was of white bridal roses. Mrs. E. W. Knight, stepmother of the bride, was in pink and white dress brocade in front with ivory white satin-duck lace and diamonds.

The relatives and friends present offered their heartiest congratulations, after which refreshments were served in the dining room, on a table decorated with ferns and jonquils. The windows of the conservatory were darkened by greens, and the shades were everywhere drawn so that sunlight lent an added charm to the pretty scene. A reception to the friends following the wedding. They came bringing not only their best wishes and congratulations but also a large number of most beautiful and valuable gifts, among which were counted forty-four cases of handsome silver. The bridal couple left on the afternoon train for a residence of a few weeks after which they will return and reside in Helena. Those present at the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hill, Mrs. Hauser, Ella and Mrs. H. H. Hill, Mrs. O. H. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Barbour, Mrs. and Mrs. S. S. Kennett, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kennett, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Knight, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Will Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Swallow, Mrs. Blaine, Florence, Ramsey, Raht, May Hill and Miss Kellogg of Wilkes, Messrs. Hooper, Geo. Barbour, Geo. Hill, Tom Knight, Harry Davis, J. P. Reed, H. B. Kane, Astley, Shaw and Hervey Barbour.

In the evening some of the friends of the family celebrated the wedding festival by music and dancing. Mr. Yeager furnished most charming music, to which the hearts and feet of the happy party kept time till 12 o'clock, after which refreshments were served. Those who participated in the enjoyment of the evening were: Misses Ramsey, Flowerlee, Raht, King, Sharpe, May Hill, Kellogg, Burke, Wilson, Blaine, Messrs. Ned Child, George Hill, O. H. Barbour, H. H. Davis, J. P. Reed, E. W. Shaw, J. W. Astley, J. B. Hooper, H. B. Kane, F. and T. Sharpe, Ben and Walter King, Sam Kennett, Hervey Barbour, Will Humbert, R. S. Hale and Atkinson; Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Vest, Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Flowerlee, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Knight, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wells.

On Friday night Mrs. J. T. Murphy entertained some of her friends in a very delightful manner, with a finely rendered program of music. Every number of the evening was highly enjoyed, particularly the exquisite playing of Mr. Hershfeldt, who was heartily cheered. After the rendition of the printed programme, the orchestra, led by Mr. Yeager, and consisted in the hall, entertained the guests for the remainder of the evening, during which they promiscuously chatted and partook of some dainty refreshments. Flowers in profusion decorated the rooms, forming a fit complement to the charming music. It is to be regretted that entertainments of so elevating a nature as this one are not often substituted in place of the usual diversions of cards and dancing.

The members of the congregation of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church and their friends, to the number of nearly two hundred, gathered on Thursday evening at the residence of Miss Martien, 324 Clark street to enjoy one of the series of sociables being given by the congregation. Mirth and laughter held sway until about midnight, the guests evidently enjoying themselves even more than usual at such entertainments, owing to the gracious hospitality and untiring efforts of the hostess and her brother, Mr. Chas. Martien, to make the guests feel at home.

Miss Minnie Israel entertained a number of her friends at her home Wednesday evening. The time was pleasantly spent in dancing, music and cards. At midnight the guests repaired to the dining room, where refreshments were served. The company dispersed about 2 o'clock, after having spent an enjoyable evening. Those present were: Misses Greenwood, Boyer, Lutz, Marks, Sarah Hepper, Moss, Schott of Michigan, Goldberg of Denver, Mrs. Dave Marks, Messrs. Dave Marks, Boyer, Solomon, A. Marks, Nathan, Kahn, Auerbach, Kohu, Loch, Gensberger, Harris, S. Gensberger and Louis Israel.

"The Neighbors' Whist Club" met this week at the home of Mrs. Floyd-Jones. The fascinating play was indulged in with all the usual interest. Some of the members are becoming ardent students of "the game which never grows stale." Those who took a hand last week were: Mr. and Mrs. Paulsen, Dr. and Mrs. Lawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Conklin, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Foote, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Phelps, the Misses Witherbee, Cullen and Green, Mrs. Haire, Messrs. Witherbee and Naples.

Thursday evening at Encore hall a number of married ladies of the West side gave an enjoyable dance. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Helmsen, Mr. and Mrs. Sturrock, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Hechler, Mr. and Mrs. Witmer, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. West, Mr. and Mrs. Miner, Mrs. T. C. Patrick, the Misses Lutz, Shott and Norton, Messrs. Cassidy, Moriarity, Babcock and Norton.

Mrs. Kaufmann, of Dearborn street, gave a tea on Saturday evening, between the hours of four and nine, in honor of her sister, Miss Lutz, and two young lady guests, Miss Shott and Miss Goldberg. The tables were handsomely decorated with flowers and ribbons; the courses of refreshments were very elaborate. Those enjoying the entertainment were Misses Lutz, Shott, Goldberg, Marks, Israel, Greenwood, Boechler, Feldberg, Boyer, Bach, Lehman and Pant.

Miss Jennie Atchison, Mande Platt and Gertrude Hickman gave a very pleasant sleighing party to some friends of the east side, consisting of Misses Yetta, Feldberg, Keating, Pachen, Sanders, Laura Comas, Alta and Fannie Child, Schlosinger, Sophia Knobs, Blake, Reing, Sanford, Howard and Masters Ganner, Johnson, Kalch, Harry and Fred Yeager, Witmer, Hedges, Paynter, Zimmerman, Keating, Fisk and Gay Platt. After riding until tired and having a very merry time, they were served by Mrs. Platt with refreshments which they did ample justice to. Plays and dancing ended the evening, the music being furnished by Mrs. McGraw.

The Juvenile Whist club met at the residence of Miss Betta Ward last Saturday evening. Refreshments were served, and those present speak of a pleasant time.

Deer Lodge is putting on city airs. The Andrews Dramatic company favors us with an entire week's entertainment of entertainment, commencing March 3. The first presentation will be Pygmalion and Galatea.

Last Sabbath evening the Rev. James Reed preached an excellent sermon at the Presbyterian church from the text, "Sowing and Reaping." The church choir and orchestra discoursed delightful music. In two weeks a song service will be given at the church.

After a delightful season of spring-like weather, when we felt the soft southern breezes on our cheek, and fancied we could smell the orange blossoms and delicious flowers of more calmy climes, a change came last Sunday night, when the southern breeze suddenly changed to a northern blast, bringing snow and ice in its wake.

The King's Daughters of the Presbyterian church gave a Martha Washington social in the ladies' hall the 21st inst. The ladies who presided at the different tables, where a elegant repast was served from 6 to 9 o'clock, were all attired in Continental style and looked very lovely in their quaint gowns and powdered hair. The hostesses were Mrs. R. S. Kelly, Mrs. T. A. Aspling, Mrs. E. P. Mills and Mrs. N. J. Bielenberg, while all the young lady members of the church acted as waitresses. Mrs. H. S. Reed and Mrs. F. W.
